LIGHTS ON, AND WE ARE GO!

Belt up and hang on for a turbo-charged Grand Prix Season Singapore, culminating in the 2016 FORMULA 1 SINGAPORE AIRLINES SINGAPORE GRAND PRIX. Home to the world's first and only FORMULA 1 night race, Singapore is truly a one-stop, non-stop destination of power-packed action both on- and off- track. Expect 10 days of the fastest cars, hottest parties, A-list entertainers and lifestyle offerings all converging on this sunny island.

With so much to see and do, this guide helps you zoom in on the best in and around the race circuit.

Looking for the glitziest parties and hottest entertainment? Race over to Anchor Highlights (pg 1 – 12) to check out where the world's best DJs will be spinning, along with top performances and star attractions in the line-up.

Embark on a gastronomic and cultural adventure in the many precincts (pg 14 – 29) around Singapore. Flash your race pass to enjoy promotions and discounts at many dining, entertainment and retail establishments around the city.

For a quick orientation, check out the map (pg 32 - 33) of the exciting Marina Bay Street Circuit. Know where to station yourself to get in on all the action.

Now you're all set to move into pole position. Enjoy Singapore in the fast lane!

F1™ FAST FACTS

Become a FORMULA 1 expert with these 10 fun facts!

260km/h

At speeds above 260km/h, a FORMULA 1 car can generate enough downforce to drive upside down in a tunnel!

5 seconds

Safety belts were only made compulsory in FORMULA 1 in 1972. Drivers must be able to release a 6-point harness in a single-handed motion and exit the car within 5 seconds.

A FORMULA 1 car weighs only 702kg (without fuel), including the driver. That's less than half the weight of a mid-sized saloon car.

While steel softens at 538°C carbon fibre used for the disc brakes in FORMULA 1 cars can withstand temperatures of over 1000°C.

Due to extreme wear and tear, most FORMULA 1 slick tyres only last around 120km. You would need about 133 tyre changes to go as far as normal car tyres can!

0:00:11

A driver's DuPont™ Nomex® suit can help him survive for 11 seconds in temperatures of 840°C.

0.05 seconds

A FORMULA 1 car can shift gears within 0.05 seconds. That's 6 times faster than the blink of an eye (0.30s – 0.40s)! On average, a FORMULA 1 driver will change gears approximately 5,000 times at the Marina Bay Street Circuit.

16,000km

The total length of carbon fibre microthreads used in a FORMULA 1 helmet spans approximately 16,000km.

FORMULA 1 cars are limited to 100kg of fuel for each race. Because they are not permitted to add or remove fuel from cars during the race, all teams must carefully manage the efficiency of their cars as most races last 1.5 to 2 hours.

4.5G to 5.5G

During a race, a FORMULA 1 driver may experience extreme forces of up to 4.5G to 5.5G. Imagine supporting 5 times your body weight on your neck!

AROUND THE CITY

Unstoppable fun and culture await you at every turn! Go beyond the city centre and discover gems that make the island a truly one-stop, non-stop lifestyle destination.

SINGAPORE RIVER

Once the heart of Singapore's early commercial trade and landing point of the country's first immigrants, the banks of the Singapore River hold many fascinating stories. Discovered by Sir Stamford Raffles in 1819, the River's port operations paved the way for the beginning of modern Singapore. Today, you can find lovingly-restored landmarks such as Supreme Court and The Fullerton Hotel (formerly the General Post Office) here, setting a striking contrast with the city's magnificent skyscrapers. The various quays along the River now thrive as nightlife and entertainment destinations.
